About me

I am a Software Engineer who has been learning Python in PDP academy since December 2021. I am passionate, self-motivated, and life-long learner. I am currently looking for internship opportunities to apply my knowledge and skills into real projects.

I have some principles in my life. My first principle is that I want to learn continuously. I never stop learning. My second principle is that I am fully dedicated to what I do. You can see how serious I am about my job after reading my story.

I studied my bachelor's degree at Tashkent Chemical Institute at Main Organic Synthesis. At that time I didn't find my passion and spent 4 years there. After graduating, I saw that I am not really interested in this sphere and decided to leave. Even after spending so many years in another sphere, I am glad that I was not afraid to start learning Software Engineering. This is the sign of how serious I am about Software Engineering
